Situated in the prestigious Prince's Building, alongside some of the world's leading high-end brands including Ralph Lauren, Hugo Boss and Chanel, Tayma Fine Jewellery's impressive location is a testament to its superior quality and designs.

One of very few independent boutique brand jewellers in Hong Kong, British designer Tayma Page Allies has acquired an enviable reputation for specialising in rare gemstones for connoisseurs. After 15 years of designing exquisite jewels for Hong Kong's discerning and fashionable crowd, she has built up a loyal following. The boutique-style showroom, decorated with antique French mirrors, cream walls, wooden flooring and luxurious sofas, has a decadent boudoir feel and sets a glamorous backdrop while you search for a new best friend which, in this case, is certainly not limited to diamonds.

gemstone, accented in fine diamonds and hand-made in gold or platinum. Stunning tear-drop earrings, eye-catching cross pendants, elaborate multi-gemmed bracelets and dazzling cocktail rings make up a sparkling collection of ready-to-wear jewellery. Each piece is hand-made by a team of expert craftsmen and is guaranteed to be a one-off design. The meticulous care invested is evident in the immaculately finished products, and a single piece of jewellery can involve over 500 hours of work.

Tayma Fine Jewellery will also design custom-made jewellery and source the world for specific gemstones and diamonds. Listening to your needs and looking at your lifestyle and personality, Tayma will advise on the perfect gemstones to suit your character and personal style. This kind of attention is reassuring—whether you're searching for a once-in-a-lifetime piece or an accompaniment to that special outfit—and the results are truly stunning.

Known for collecting gemstones from all over the world, Tayma uses aquamarine, rainbow-coloured tourmalines, tanzanite, rubies, sapphires and diamonds from places as diverse as Brazil, South Africa, Myanmar, Madagascar and Sri Lanka. Her own multicultural upbringing in Malta, Trinidad and Nigeria initiated her interest in rare gems from these exotic locations. Her passion and hard work have certainly paid off; the result is a stylish and inviting showroom literally glittering in fantastic and vibrant pinks, blues and greens; and with drawers and drawers of sparkling gemstones, it's a treasure chest chockfull of any girl's best friends.
